RENEWED PETITION UNDER 37 C.F.R. §1.137(b)

BACKGROUND

On October 23, 2007, applicant filed a petition to revive the above-identified application accompanied by an amendment to a final rejection letter to which responses had previously been made, but which did not prima facie place the application in condition for allowance. The amendment (also dated October 23, 2007) accompanying the petition to revive was believed to overcome the non-compliance problems with the previously submitted responses.

On December 21, 2007, the petition was dismissed. The dismissal states "copy mailed Dec. 21, 2007". However, the envelope in which the decision was sent, is postmarked December 31, 2007, and was received by the undersigned on January 2, 2008.

Attached to the dismissal decision was an advisory action signed by the primary examiner, James Hewitt, in which it was stated that the reply filed by applicant on October 23, 2007 (i.e., the amendment accompanying the petition to revive) failed to place the application in condition for allowance. The advisory action sets forth in substantial detail the basis for the examiner's decision which includes a failure to cure certain informalities. Some additional claims, previously indicated as allowed, were rejected under the recapture rule.

Submitted with this renewed petition is a further amendment which is believed to overcome all of the examiner's objections to the previously submitted amendment by cancelling all of the claims which have been rejected on other than grounds of informalities, such as indentations or the like.

There is also submitted with this Renewed Petition Under 37 C.F.R. §1.137(b), a Request for Continued Examiner (RCE), and its required fee. An information disclosure statement is also submitted, which is believed appropriate under RCE proceedings. Included with the IDS are comments made by the undersigned counsel which may help explain the timing of the submission and its basis.

Any further fees required by this Renewed Petition and its enclosures may be charged to my account No. 26-0265 in the Patent Office.

Respectfully submitted,

Harris Zimmerman
